

Randall Bramblett & Geoff Achison Band

“Jammin’ in the Attic”
new CD
From Hittin’ the Note
Records

“Incendiary. That's the word. BURNIN' HOT. I have heard some great jam bands. I grew up on The Allman Brothers, Grateful Dead, etc. But I have never, no NEVER, heard better jamming than I heard last night.” Atlanta Examiner

This CD is one that defies labeling and holds your attention from start to finish. It has a timeless quality that makes the listener feel as if this has been among his favorite pieces forever.

Billtown Blues, Penn.

These two headliners combine their virtuosic talents to produce one of the best live bands and live CD's of the year! Jammin' In The Attic, is an exhilarating collaboration disc between former Sea Level member Bramblett and Australian guitarist Geoff Achison, with the razor-sharp rhythm section of drummer and Grammy winner Yonrico Scott and bassist Ted Pecchio backing them up. This band is a wonderful example of what can happen when two great musicians and songwriters put aside their egos and join forces. The dynamic duo perform a combination of tunes from both of their careers, and with the band, play intuitively off each other in a beautiful display of telepathy. This band grooves so supremely it's like they're telepathic, and with their history, why wouldn't they be? They've played with Widespread Panic, The Band, The Allman Brothers, Steve Winwood, Derek Trucks Band, Stevie Wonder, Hot Tuna, Santana, Susan Tedeschi and more.
